When Wukong entered the royal court in the Cloud Palace, he didn't bow. "You're supposed to bow before the emperor," whispered Venus.

Wukong laughed. "I'm just as powerful as he is. Maybe he should bow before me!"

Everyone but the Jade Emperor gasped.

Wukong looked at the emperor. "I'm glad you invited me. I guess you finally realized I should be living up here with all of you." "Show some respect," said Venus.

"That sounds perfect!" said Wukong. The next morning a gardener showed Wukong the peach garden. Bright, glowing peaches hung from every branch.

"The peaches in this garden are not like peaches on Earth," said the gardener. "These peaches take thousands of years to become ripe. Anybody who takes a bite of one will live forever." Each morning Wukong inspected the trees in the garden. He took his job very seriously.

"These peaches look delicious," Wukong thought one day. He looked around. None of the gardeners were in sight. "Maybe I'll eat one."
