E59：Journey to the West （Scared Villagers 害怕的村民）下

单词数：304个　小初3500词　　DATE:

"No," said Chen through his tears. "It's just that life is very bad in this village." A few years ago, a terrible demon arrived. He's always treated us badly, but now things are worse. He demanded that we give him a child. If we don't, he'll destroy our entire village. Tomorrow morning I must . . . hand over my son!" Chen burst into tears all over again.

Wukong giggled and then laughed. The Tang Monk glared at the monkey. "Wukong! Why are you laughing?"

"There's no need for that," said Wukong, still laughing. He turned to Chen. "I'm not laughing at you, sir. I'm laughing because today is the luckiest day of your life." Chen raised his eyebrows. "How am I lucky?"

"You've probably never heard of me," said Wukong. "But I am Sun Wukong, the Monkey King. I once defeated the Jade Emperor's entire army. And tomorrow I will save your son's life."

"Are you a spirit?" asked Chen.

"Yes, a very powerful spirit," said Wukong. "Bring your son out here. I need to look at him."

Chen left the room for a moment. When he came back, a small boy was with him.

"This is my son," said Chen.
