单词数：355个　小初3500词　　DATE:

"What happened to Wukong?" asked the pig. " Nothing hurts him except for the Tight Headband spell."

"I don't know," said Wujing, scratching his head. They went down the mountain and found the monkey crouching by a stream. He was still holding his head.

"Are you all right?" asked Wujing. "That woman stabbed me in the head," moaned Wukong. "The pain is horrible!"

Bajie snorted. "You're always bragging about how tough you are. Now you're crying about getting stabbed in the head?" "It hurts!" shouted the monkey.

Wujing moved closer. "Let me see where she stabbed you." Wukong lowered his hands. There was no injury.

Bajie laughed. "He's fine. He just wants us to feel bad for him." The monkey glared at the pig. "I'm telling you, it hurts!"

He took a deep breath. "The pain is going away now though. Let's go back up there and fight her again." The three companions returned to the cave.

"Wukong, you stand back," said Bajie, laughing. "I don't want you getting hurt again." Wukong clenched his teeth.

But the woman was too fast. Wukong raised his iron bar, waiting for a good moment to strike.

Suddenly Bajie cried out, "Ahh!" He covered his nose and ran back down the mountain.

The woman spun toward Wukong and Wujing. They turned and ran back down the mountain.

Bajie was huddled on the ground, tears streaming from his eyes. "It hurts so badly!" Wukong laughed.

"Don't laugh at me!" cried Bajie. "She stabbed my nose!" "You deserved it!" said the monkey. "
